The applications we provide in this category are dedicated to handling different kinds of digital media, such as images, videos, audio, and other file types. The main purpose of these applications is to help you catalog, organize and store your media and backup your important files. Avidemux is one of the most versatile and reliable open source video editors, created to help you create non-linear edits, add effects, clean and resize videos, convert and burn DVDs, and so on. Its rich and user-friendly interface makes it an excellent choice for beginners, even though professionals tend to use it on a regular basis. Not only it can handle virtually every kind of media file and structure, the software can convert them to other formats, add effects, trim, crop and merge a huge number of video, audio and image formats, edit metadata and embed subtitles, and more. The version of Avidemux used in this application is 2.6. The developers have added support for the following languages: English, French, German, Spanish, Russian, Swedish, Finnish, Hungarian and Slovenian. Avidemux will automatically adjust to your system, after installation, you only need to edit the application's configuration. Since it is open-source, all of the programs that it depends on can be found in a public repository. You can use this repository to get updates and enhancements as they become available. Under the hood, Avidemux handles media files, support for other formats, properties, file formats and integration with external software, including the support for plugins and filters. When it comes to sharing and transferring media to the Internet or various other users, Avidemux can be used for this purpose. To facilitate the process, the software offers the possibility to extract media from AVI, MOV, MP4, MKV, OGM and MPG files. The application works with the Windows networking and supports several types of network media players, including Windows Media Player, QuickTime and RealPlayer. With the help of this software you can burn AVI, MPEG, RM, MPG, MP4, MOV, OGM, GZ, TGZ, ISO, BIN, MKV, TTA, ROM, etc. files to DVDs and Blu-ray discs. Simple and reliable disc burning utility can do almost anything without the need for any complex setup. Create a local network of any size and share the Internet connection to any device via Wi-Fi. Create the network Wifi Host comes as a self-installer that requires no installation, no additional drivers and has zero impact on the computer. You can add the user to the app's group so that the connection appears as an additional network and not as an ad-hoc Wi-Fi network. Share your Internet connection The app, once launched, allows users to connect to the Internet via Wi-Fi by using any device that has Internet access. The list shows every device connected to the network with a record of the Internet speed and date/time. Users can also see the Internet speed, date/time and the owner of the network, and they can even take screenshots of the screen they are using. Small is beautiful The application is designed to be slim, with an interface that offers minimalistic design. You can easily control the app with a minimalist main menu. User-friendly As far as we tested, the application is simple and easy to use. General: Once you launch the app, you will be shown with the options to create a new group network, setup a network, find devices, select more networks, view the connection information, create a network snapshot and add the user to the network. To create the network, you can select the group name, network mode and options from a list. To create a snapshot, you can either choose to take a screenshot or use a webcam. The application can be shut down by the user or automatically, which means that you do not need to worry about the network state. To connect to a network, you can choose which network you want to create a connection to from the list and then you can choose the Internet connection you want to share. The list shows every device connected to the network with a record of the Internet speed, date/time and name. The owner of the network can be modified from this menu. To share the Internet connection with the given user you need to send them the Internet connection details. You will be able to give the user the IP address of the network, the IP address of the Internet connection on the network, the subnet mask, the gateway, the DNS address and the DNS search domain. In Conclusion Although the application is pretty simple and basic, there are a few things that are missing, like a
