ez1095 is an Affordable Care Act 1095 forms generator, used to generate forms 1095-B, 1095-C, 1094-B, 1094-C for your business. ez1095 is specifically designed to save you time by automating the process of generating forms 1095-B, 1095-C, 1094-B, 1094-C, instead of manually generating, filling and printing the forms yourself. ez1095 features are: There is a limited FREE version available and there is a Pro version, with more features, including user management, email notifications, user roles, standard email templates and support for both the 1095-B and 1095-C forms. Simply select the form type you are generating and click the "Generate" button. The application will ask you to fill in a few fields, that are basic fields required to generate the forms. When done, the application will show you the generated form and you can print it or email it. The form can be printed to a "flat file", that is sent to your printer. The file can be saved to a directory on your computer or sent directly to an email address. Note: The forms are saved in "flat files" and sent to your printer, not to a ".pdf" or ".jpg" file. Note: ez1095 is available for both the 1095-B and 1095-C forms. Every day, thousands of people run into problems when they're trying to find any information about the latest tech gadgets. Developers around the globe today depend on Mac to do their work and be productive. Mac users are more excited than Windows users when it comes to quality apps that help them with their work. Today, it is quite obvious that many commercial apps that are available on Windows and are very popular, are also available on Mac. However, there is a general perception that Mac users have that these apps do not perform as good as the Windows counterparts. That's not true in reality. In fact, many of these apps are even better than their Windows counterparts. But it is not enough to just provide the same quality apps that are available on Windows. It is very important that Mac users can depend on these apps and these software development teams to be stable and always provide quality apps.
